Successful School Fair Day

“One EIS, One Family”

By James Wilson 11E

The EIS Fair Day with the theme “One EIS, One Family” was organized on Sunday, January 29, 2012. The purpose of the fair was to have fun and bond together as members of the EIS family, to promote school spirit and teamwork, and to raise funds for the improvement and development of school facilities.

The day started with a parade led by the Adventurer Club Band marching towards the covered court. After opening remarks by Mrs. Rajdeep Takeuchi, Director of EIS, performances by students from kindergarten to high school began. Dancers and musicians in beautiful costumes performed their best, as parents, teachers, and students clapped their hands and tapped their feet to the thrilling musical renditions. One student exclaimed, “I am so glad I came today to witness EIS vibrating with life and vigor!”

Outside the boundaries of the covered court a happy clown won the heart of all spectators as he transformed colorful balloons into cute animals and shapes. Teachers and parents sold a variety of attractive items.

Mrs. Rajdeep Takeuchi, EIS Director and daughter also join the procession.

High School students enjoy the food and the fun.

The School Band performs at the School Fair.

Plenty of food was on sale to raise funds for the school.

Many alumni came back to meet teachers and friends, and realized that the best place to be was at EIS. A friendly basketball match was also organized between the alumni.

The Fair slowly but surely came to an end at around 4 p.m. Mrs. Beatrice Kootanasan, coordinator of the Fair said, “All in all, it was a great success! The amount of money raised far exceeded the school’s expectations. I’d like to thank everyone for supporting this event.”

The Amazing Sports Day 2012

By Nel Vincent Gentapanan 11A and Kobchart Jaraswimol 12B

Sports Day is an event that every student at EIS looks forward to with a lot of anticipation and eagerness.

It is a time of bonding and networking. The two-day event, organized by the Student Council of EIS, was held from February 2-3, 2012. As usual, the day started with a colorful parade led by the Marching Band.

Various sports were played on the first day. On the second day, the most anticipated cheerleading competition took place.

Kittikhun Rochanasmith 12A, a member of the cheerleaders from Orange House said, "We had to practice hard, but most of all we had to be united as a team. We even prayed before competing. Unfortunately, we came in second, but we had done our best. Since this is our last year at EIS, this experience will stay with us for a long time."

Sasawat Chanate 11G, said, "I am glad that we have Sports Day. Students from every grade united to cheer and support their teams to victory."

Kemisara Paladesh 10C, agreed and said, "It was great to see the spirit of teamwork and collaboration shown by all students. I would like to thank the Student Council for their hard work in organizing this amazing Sports Day 2012."

The results of the Sports Day competitions were as follows:

Overall Winner – Orange House
Winner of Cheerleading Competition – Pink House

Making a Difference on Campus

Adventurer Week

(Above and below) Students in the Adventurer Club pick up trash around the school campus, plant shrubs and trees in front of the Snack Bar, and paint the walls of the parking lot.

By Mrs. Mariavic Ejurango, Head of Adventurer Club

The Adventurer Club of EIS organized an Adventurer Week from February 6-10, 2011. The objective was to provide our students with activities to help them learn how to be responsible citizens. The theme was “Small Hands Make a Big Difference.”

The following activities were organized: Little Lambs and Eager Beavers (K2 & K3) picked up trash and dry leaves around the school campus. Busy Bees and Sunbeams (Grade 1 & 2) planted shrubs to beautify the areas in front of the Snack Bar and Building 9. Builders and Helping Hands (Grade 3 & 4) painted the walls of the parking lot.

During the week, the Adventurers also participated in a fund-raising activity called “Namjai for the Needy.” Adventurers brought empty water bottles home and asked family members and friends to fill them up with monetary donations. At the end of the week, a total of 107,450.50 Baht was collected. This year’s “Numjai for the Needy” fund will be used to build a Children Learning Center in Petchabun Province.

One mother commented, “I appreciate the activities that were organized by the Adventurer Club. Our children learned how to be responsible, caring, and generous citizens.”

Valentine's Day A Celebration of Love

Valentine's Day was celebrated at EIS on February 14, 2012. It was a beautiful occasion for students to show love and appreciation to their loved ones.

Students found unique and special ways to show their love and respect for their loved ones, which included special friends, teachers, parents and relatives. They expressed their feelings by giving presents, cards and messages.

A student commented, "Valentine's Day brought a feeling of warmth and happiness to everyone's heart."

A Senior student said, "I would like to thank the Juniors for organizing this event. They worked really hard to make it a very memorable and special day."

"This day brought out the best in everyone," said Aeri Kim 11G. "Students wore Valentine's shirts, and gave gifts of chocolate and flower bouquets to each other."

Pimauborn Sirisook 9E is so happy to receiving a Valentine gift from a secret admirer.

Duangkamol Jongudomsub 10A is delighted to receive a bouquet of flowers from a special friend.

A teacher said, "I observed and felt the sweet and loving attitude that members of our EIS family have towards one another. However, it would be even better if these attitudes could be manifested everyday of the year!"

When asked what would be the best gift a student could give a teacher, one teacher answered, "Not flowers or expensive gifts, just love and respect."

On April 3, 2012, the Thai Language Department organized the annual Songkran Festival with the theme “Lanna,” a Thai word meaning “land of a million rice fields.”

As expected, most of the presentations reflected traditional Thai culture. As soon as EIS Director Mrs. Rajdeep Takeuchi finished her opening remarks, the Kindergarten Department amazed the audience with their “Noo Noi Lanna Fashion Show.” Parents cheered proudly as their children gracefully walked across the covered court dressed in colorful Thai costumes.

Pin Laomanutsak 9G, one of the MC’s of the program said, “The show was very impressive, and it was a treat for everyone to watch EIS students in beautiful Lanna costumes.” Two dance performances, “Dek Doi Jai Dee” performed by the kindergartners, and the “Sukothai Dance” by students from Grades 10-12 added a sophisticated touch to the occasion.

The Songkran Festival ended with a traditional ceremony called “Rod Nam Dum Hua,” in which students sprinkle scented water on their teachers’ hands and receive a blessing in return.

Tanat Boozayaangool 9D, commented, “This year’s Songkran Festival was not only fun, but very meaningful to me. It provided a chance to express thankfulness to teachers and other respected people.”

EIS Scores a Victory at Trade Challenge Competition

Two EIS students, Oranas Termsedcharoen 12B and Papada Sirisukhodom 12C, had the privilege of representing Thailand at the annual FedEx Junior Achievement® International Trade Challenge Competition (www.jathailand.org).

The competition, held in Bangkok last year, aimed to nurture the entrepreneurial spirit of students in the Asia-Pacific region. More than 50 participants from Japan, Hong Kong, South Korea, Malaysia, New Zealand, Thailand, Singapore and the Philippines entered the competition.

Now in its fifth year, the FedEx/JAITC program is designed to help students learn about international trade, and provide them with an opportunity to set up mock export businesses. Students leave the competition with a better understanding of how entrepreneurship can improve the quality of their lives.

Oranas and Papada, partners in one of three teams chosen to represent Thailand, won third place in the regional round by introducing Thai Twins Energy Drink, a product made from pure Thai herbs. Their marketing plan included strategies for promotions, pricing, inventory, and distribution.

The EIS team, however, missed out in the elimination round at the international -level competition, in which another team from Thailand, St. Joseph Bangna School, emerged as winners. Papada said, "Although we didn't win, I am not disappointed. To me, all participants were winners. We gained valuable lessons from the experience and have learned what it means to be entrepreneurs."

On January 31, 2012, EIS participated in the 1st Annual International Quiz Bee Competition at the International Pioneers School (IPS), Bangkok. Amlaan Bhoi 11D, Charlie Visudharomn 11D, Suntiparp Somsak 9C, and Smith Sermssrisuwan 6D, (seated above L-R), together with their advisor, Mr. Felix Nada, formed the fearless EIS team. Battling against six other teams from well-known international schools in Bangkok, EIS proved to be strong and formidable contender, leading in the initial rounds of the competition. Then, challenges arose when the team was hit with difficult questions on Arts, Culture and English literature. But, to EIS' advantage, the last part of the competition dealt more on History, Science, and Geography. Their wealth of knowledge in these areas helped them to pull through in the end. The IPS student body cheered and applauded each team's effort as they garnered points in this fierce competition. After an intense series of tie-breaking questions, EIS surged ahead of Bangkok Patana School to become the first runner-up after Harrow International School. Once again, Ekamai International School students served us proudly and proved to possess a high caliber of educational prowess!

EIS students composed of Laksika Kannasut 12D, Natcha Ruangsuvilai 12C, Papada Sirisukhodom 12C, and Oranas Termsedcharoen 12B, (L-R), under the guidance of Mr. Tommy Thomas (extreme left), recently participated in the Junior Achievement "Banks in Action" Competition held at the Bangkok Bank Headquarters. The aim of this project was to increase knowledge about money and banking among high school students, and used the curriculum developed by Junior Achievement USA®, an organization which develops programs that foster work-readiness, entrepreneurship, and financial literacy skills. Nine schools participated, including Harrow International School, Ekamai International School, The Regents School, Trinity International School, Triam Udom Suksa School, Assumption College, Assumption Commercial College, Bangkok Christian College, and Satriewithaya School. EIS managed to grab 3rd place in the very fierce competition. "It was extremely challenging as we had to compete with nine other elite schools, but we pulled it off eventually!" exclaimed Papada of 12C. Team adviser Mr. Tommy said, "I was delighted that our team brought back the 3rd place trophy. Each student did their best to make EIS proud."

EIS Wins 3rd Place in “Company of the Year 2011” Competition

By Kobchart Jaraswimol 12B

For the first time, Ekamai International School participated in the “Junior Achievement Company of the Year (Thailand) Competition 2011.” This was a contest of business skills, ingenuity, and innovation aimed at students, aged 14 to 18.

Junior Achievement is the world’s largest organization dedicated to inspiring and preparing young people to succeed in the global economy. The JA Company Program® guides students in starting and running their own businesses, and developing and marketing products or services with help from the local business community.

The EIS Company, called “Dek-Thai,” formed by 15 Business Management and Accounting students won third place in the competition.

With Papada Sirisukhodom 12C, as president, and Mr. Tommy Thomas as sponsor, the team started a retail company which was entirely owned and managed by the students. Their product, aimed at appealing to the tourist market, was a specially designed eco-friendly bag with the map of Bangkok’s public transportation system printed on it.

The EIS team worked hard to overcome many challenges, and they were able to make a remarkable net profit of over 50,000 Baht, which was donated to the Thai Red Cross Society. Oranas Termsedcharoen 12B said, “We had fun and gained lots of valuable experience on how to run and manage a company.”

Mr. Tommy Thomas concluded, “Our students performed very well and were enthusiastic. They got the valuable opportunity to gain hands-on experience on how to run a business and succeed in a global economy.”

Eco-friendly bags were produced and sold to tourists by the EIS Team.

Every member of the team had to work hard to prepare the bags for sale.

Community Service in Flood-Stricken Province

A few months ago, students from the EIS HOPE Club traveled to Nonthaburi to take part in a community service project. Nonthaburi was severely inundated by the flood late last year. EIS students volunteered as street sweepers. Their task was to sweep mud off the road and pull out unwanted grass and weeds that grew along the footpath. Parit, one of the volunteers said, "It was a lot of arduous work, but I enjoyed it. We were overwhelmed by the appreciation shown by the people in that area." Chanakan agreed, "If I have another chance, I will definitely volunteer again. It was a joy and a privilege to do good things for others." These students put into practice one of EIS' Expected School-wide Learning Outcomes by being responsible and helpful citizens who contributed to the welfare of society.

Students Show Volunteer Spirit

Members from the EIS HOPE Club attended the second Volunteer Street Fair 2012, which took place at the Benjasiri Park (Queen's Park) during March 31 and April 1, 2012. This event was organized by the Volunteer Spirit Network (www.volunteer-spirit.org), with the purpose of promoting the importance of volunteering in order to build a better society, and to equip volunteers with necessary skills to achieve this goal. Activities included learning about First-Aid, survival skills, danger and crisis management, and boat rowing. Participants also learned about teamwork, dialogue, how to be a good listener, dealing with loss, and the importance of responsibility. Hands-on activities included making life-jackets and wooden shelves as well as learning how to recycle. One student said, "Volunteering brings self-worth and respect. It is also a great way to network, meet new people and learn new skills." Another student said wisely, "One of the most satisfying things for a person is to become a volunteer. People in need will be blessed, you will find joy in your heart, and the world will become a much better place to live because you volunteered."

Students leading out in the song service at Bangkok International Church

By Sirirada Pattara-angkoon 10C

Friday evening, February 17, 2012, will be remembered by many high school students. During a touching service at Bangkok International Church, students sang songs and shared experiences about how God had touched their lives. This event was organized by Mr. James Yoong, High School Math teacher.

In his testimony, Napat Sanguansin 12A, said, "My life has never been the same since I met God. My first encounter with God was when I was in Grade 5. I had to memorize difficult vocabulary words for a test, but nothing seemed to register in my mind. Deeply frustrated and almost in tears, I remembered the words on a poster in my classroom. It was a prayer for strength for those who want to accept God. Going back to the poster and with folded hands, I read the prayer out loud and said "Amen." I felt at peace and found the strength to study for the test. From that day onward I started to behave like an actual follower of God. I prayed to Him before I did anything. Throughout the years, God has helped me in many ways, and I enjoy and cherish this relationship. There is a verse in the Bible that gives me strength: "Trust in the Lord and do good. Live in the land and be safe." (Psalms 37:3)

Upon listening to the touching testimonies of his friends, Dome of Grade 11 commented, "I like what I heard. My friends taught me many lessons of life, and helped me to understand things better. Sometimes we don't focus on what's really important in our lives. We lose sight of the real goal in life because we become blinded by other factors."

Arthima Chavanaittinant 10A, concluded, "I'd like to thank Mr. James Yoong for the opportunity to share our feelings about God. It has encouraged me to depend more on Him. Sometimes we try to do things on our own. We forget that God has the strength to help us overcome obstacles in life. I'd like to encourage everyone to let God guide your life. Give God a chance."

Students Seek Deeper Meaning in Life at Bible Camp

By Pastor Jonathan Montes, Chaplain

From February 17- 19, 2012, the EIS Chaplaincy Department organized its annual Bible Camp. This year, the event, which drew 62 students from middle and high school, took place at Charn Issara Resort in Muak Lek District, Saraburi Province. A group from Grace Adventist Center (www.facebook.com/graceadventistcenter) helped facilitate the weekend experience.

The theme, “Deeper Life,” was inspired by the Bible text: “Call to me and I will answer you and tell you great and unsearchable things you do not know.” (Jeremiah 33:3, NIV)

On arrival, Chaplain Jonathan, in his devotional talk, challenged students to stop being content with the superficial things in their lives. The next morning, Chaplain Joe discussed how he found deeper meaning in life thanks to his relationship with Jesus Christ.

Saturday afternoon saw a variety of team-building games. That evening Chaplain Jonathan shared a message about how students could go deeper into communication with each other and God. The night was capped off with a barbecue supper and swimming.

On Sunday morning Chaplain Joe ended the camp with a message about unsearchable things, and how God will reveal those things to us when we come to Him. Before heading home, the group stopped at Thongsomboon Club, a cowboy-themed adventure park located near Khao Yai National Park, Nakhon Ratchasima Province.

“Bible Camp not only offered fun, excitement and a chance to make new friends,” said Atikarn Vanadit 11E, “but also gave us a chance to develop a more meaningful relationship with God.”

“I enjoyed listening to the inspirational talks,” said Hyun-Jong Noh 11E. “It made me realize there is a greater power that we can rely on when facing difficulties in our lives.” “I enjoyed the go-carting and roller balling,” said Pakin Chawasap 11A, “but most of all I appreciated the peaceful surroundings, away from the busy city. It was just me, nature, and God.”

Distinguished speakers for Career Day included alumni, parents and invited guests.

By Zen Pakhrin 12B and Pantira Akarakajohnchai 12C

On February 17, 2012, the Guidance Department organized “Career Day” to provide students with useful information for planning future careers. Parents and alumni shared experiences in their respective fields, such as medicine, engineering, aviation, business, marketing, finance, entertainment, and food industries.

Speakers provided first-hand information about working environments, qualifications, salaries, as well as the joys and frustrations of each profession. Students were given the chance to ask questions.

“Choose to do something that you will enjoy,” advised one speaker. “Money should not be the main factor when selecting a career.”

Haru Yamaguchi, an actress and former EIS student, admitted her career was not easy. “It’s important for me to maintain a positive public image all the time,” she said, “but I find my career rewarding.”

Chaiyapat Jaiwattanasawat 12A, said, “I received information that will help me plan for my future career. Now I know what I want to do with my life.”

“Macbeth Comes Alive”
Chananchida Sang-Aram 10A, the director of Macbeth, throws scripts into the air to celebrate the end of her epic struggle. The above are student actors and actresses in the Macbeth production.

By Mr. Tom Sigurdson, Drama Teacher

On May 16th, the Grade 10 Honors English class, taught by Ms. Amy Angelo and Mr. Ian Cordero, staged an abbreviated version of the Shakespearean play Macbeth. It was very much a student-driven production. Director Chananchida Sang-Aram (Sai) 10A, not only coordinated the production of props and costumes but often stepped forward to help actors deliver lines in a professional manner.

Squeezing a lengthy play into a short Chapel period was a daunting task. Sai kept only the most important scenes, and the witches were brought back on stage to act as narrators who could describe the missing parts of the plot.

Luckily, stage managers Kultida Keerikoolparn 10A and Kanis Dhane-suan 10B were able to keep the play moving without any hitches. “Although there are some mistakes here and there, problems were minor,” remembers Kultida. “Overall, it went smoothly.”

Mr. Tom, drama teacher and production consultant, was impressed that a Grade 10 class would take on such an ambitious project. “Ms. Amy is already talking about doing Hamlet next year,” he said. “Quality drama is fast becoming part of our school culture.”

Lady Macbeth, played by Napath Kolsuparat, has already drifted into the madness that will soon have her commit suicide.

“Out, dirty spot! Out, I say!”
Lady Macbeth, played by Napath Kolsuparat, will never cleanse her hands of the blood she and Macbeth have shed to gain the throne of Scotland.

Lady Macbeth’s doctor (left), played by Kultida Keerikoolparn, and her nurse, portrayed by Patcharanan Pipatanon, discuss the strange sleepwalking habits of their patient.

Macbeth (left), played by Sarun Songpechmongkol, looks friendly, but he will soon have his friend Banquo, portrayed by Thanakorn Suppakarnpanich, murdered.

Macbeth, played by Sarun Songpechmongkol, still wears his royal red robe, but soon Macduff, portrayed by Kanis Dhane-suan, will have his head on a spike.

Dialogue Competition

Has That Swing

By Mr. Tom Sigurdson, Drama Teacher

This year's dialogue competition, staged on March 21, 2012 scored big points with its high school audience by introducing musical duets into its regular fare of high tragedy and low comedy. Mr. Bronsen Stoltz, was the MC. "Mr. Bronsen was a good MC," said Napath Kosolsuparat 10A. "He is so lively and creative."

Pei Shan Lin 10D, punched the first hole in student indifference by her dazzling ballet performance Valse Printemps. However, cell phones really got turned off when Chananchida Sang-Aram 10A and Gerardo Simonetto 11A started to sing the first lines to Musical Suicide. The performance earned the pair third place honors. Chananchida remained modest about her ability. "I discovered that I can actually sing but a little off tune."

Gerardo, who mounted three entries for the semi-finals, was candid about his motivation to be part of this competition. "This was my last chance." Perhaps Napath Kosolsuparat 10A and Rosalin Herman 10E, the next contestants, felt the same way. They did so well in the semi-finals that they had two entries in the finals.

Napath Kosolsuparat 10A and Rosalin Herman 10E's number, Teach Me How To Cry, took second place. Napath admitted the pair had lost some of their fire by over-practicing their second sketch from the Sound of Music.

Kultida Keerikoolpan 10A and Kanis Dhanesuan 10B made confidence the central theme in their musical duet entitled Defying Gravity. Mixing drama and good music, the two came perilously close to being named winners.

Not surprisingly, Julianne Jittaseno Youngberg 9A and Anucha Sakdsrinarang 9G, took home top honors. He's Got His Own, Julianne's own work, demonstrated a sure feel for the teen world. Anucha, an actor amazingly good for never having taken a drama class, milked his funny lines perfectly. Another writer/actor, Michael Ragui 10B and his partner

Julianne Youngberg is trying to convince Anucha Sakdsrinarang to give up his romantic nature in a scene from He's Got His Own.

Innocent as a rose, Rosalin Herman is trying to ask for advice from Napath Kosolsuparat, a Sunshine lady, from the musical Sound of Music.

True love walks a rocky road as Michael Ragui (L) and Chanyaporn Kiatyanyong (R) proved in their heart-warming skit called Red Rose.

Gerardo Simonetto and Kultida Keerikoolpan played two scenes from the movie Corpse Bride.

Napath Kosolsuparat is trying to understand Rosalin Herman's cruelty, but they were destined Never to be Friends.

Chanyaporn Kiatyanyong 10A finished off the competition. Michael's own story, Red Roses, was a poignant tale of love not quite ready to blossom.

Judges Ms. Terra Swartz, Mr. James Lawson and student Mr. Intouch Piticharoen 10B wisely commented on each performance.

Pei-shan Lin performed the ballet Valse Printemps at the opening of the Dialogue and Musical Duet competition.

Español Mundial A Spanish Festival

Primary students are decorating a piñata.

By Magazine publishing Class Periods 4 & 9

On May 8, 2012, the Spanish classes, directed by Señor Bronsen Stoltz, Spanish Teacher, organized an amazing Spanish Festival. The purpose was to provide a unique opportunity for EIS students get a taste of Spanish culture and tradition.

One of the attractions was the Spanish Fair on the Ground Floor of Building 9. There was a colorful display of booths with interesting activities from many Latin American countries such as Peru, Colombia, and Chile. All students were able to experience and take in the fun and excitement that is part of many Spanish cultures.

A competition was organized for Primary Level students to paint a piñata, which is a gaily decorated papier-mâché figure filled with toys, candy, etc., and suspended from above, especially during festivities, so that children, who are blind-folded, may break it or knock it down with sticks and release the contents. Beside Building 6, the restaurant “Bourbon Street Inn” provided some of the best Mexican food for sale. A football match was also organized between current and former Spanish class students. The breaking of the piñata at the covered court was the finale of the festivities.

One student exclaimed, “I love Mexican food! It was so delicious!” Another student said, “I appreciate the enthusiasm of Señor Bronsen and his Spanish Class students. The Spanish Festival has broadened my outlook on the world and helped me to appreciate Spanish culture.”

Fashion Show Recycling Can Be Fun

By Welmer Lozada, Art Teacher

On March 28, 2012, the EIS Art Department hosted its annual fashion show. This year's theme was "Recycling." Students designed their own costumes and displayed their creations as models on a catwalk.

Students used recycled materials such as plastic, bottle caps, and wires to make their creations. Three judges from EIS and two judges from Raffles International College evaluated the merits of each entry.

It was a busy morning. Eighth-grade designers and models got the competition started, but soon the audience got their first glimpse of the Welmer Collection, recycled costumes modeled by six of the most statuesque students attending EIS.

Later, students from High School displayed their own creations on the catwalk.

Students really put effort into their work. Winners were Kemika Bovonvanitkul 8D, Min Suk Kim 8E, Wasanun Warisarachotinun 8B, Ratchanee Janthanit 8C, Titima Jenmanachaiyakun 11D, Samsruthi Somasundaram 12C, Supatcha Supapant 12B, and Pornkamol Huang 12A.

"It was an amazing sight to see student models on the catwalk wearing beautiful dresses made totally from recycled materials," said one student.

"Even though I did not win," said one contestant, "the experience has boosted my confidence."

AE TURN BACK

By Mrs. Beatrice Kootanasan, Principal for Student Administration and Alumni Coordinator

May 1, 2012 was a very auspicious day for EIS. More than 100 alumni from the graduating classes of 1981-1990 came to visit their alma mater, Adventist English School, as EIS was known during that time. "Turn Back The Clock," was the theme of the event, organized by well-renowned musician and composer Mr. Boyd Kosiyabong and his classmates. The group came early to join the flag line-up with the current students. Then they led out in the high school chapel program by singing and giving testimonies of their valuable life experience in this school. Also, they were able to meet some former teachers and administrators and gave flowers to each of them. A friendly basketball match was played between the alumni and the alumni-to-be, that is the Seniors of 2012. Both teams demonstrated goodwill and spirit during the game.

A touching moment for Mrs. Perla Camagay.

Alumni with their beloved teacher, Mrs. Varinee Lee.
